

Channel Moderation versus Account Moderation

Channel Moderation and Account Moderation are two unique concepts and it is important for users and admins to understand the differences between the two.

Channel Moderation: Videos uploaded to a moderated channel in Kaltura's video portal or KAF media gallery won't appear in the channel itself but can be played elsewhere or shared via the collaboration feature. Channel moderators and managers can bypass this process. If any other channel member uploads content, it must be approved by a moderator or owner before it appears in the specific category.

Account Moderation: With global moderation, all uploads must be approved in KMC before it can be played anywhere. The unmoderated role in the application is relevant here; content uploaded to the Kaltura's video portal with this role won't go through KMC moderation unless global moderation is enforced, equivalent to an admin role.

[template("cat-subscribe")]
