Deliverables list - allowing attendees to opt-in for partners

Other than brand awareness and engagement, your event partners can enjoy quality lists of leads who showed interest and visited their booth or watched their event content.

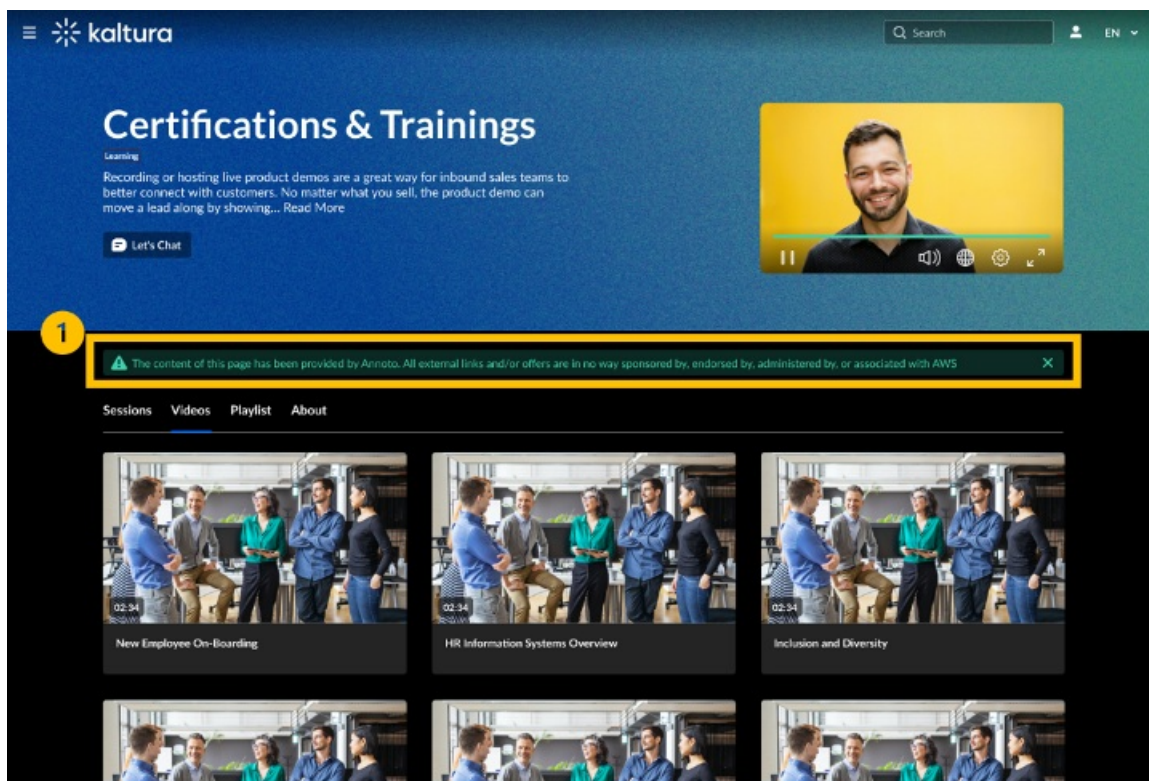

Attendees have the option to opt-in to share their information with the event partners during registration, or when visiting one of the partners' booths.

Below, you can learn about the user journey to opt-in via the partners' booths and the deliverables required.

Opt-in in booth (channel), opt-out (or in) in edit registration in profile

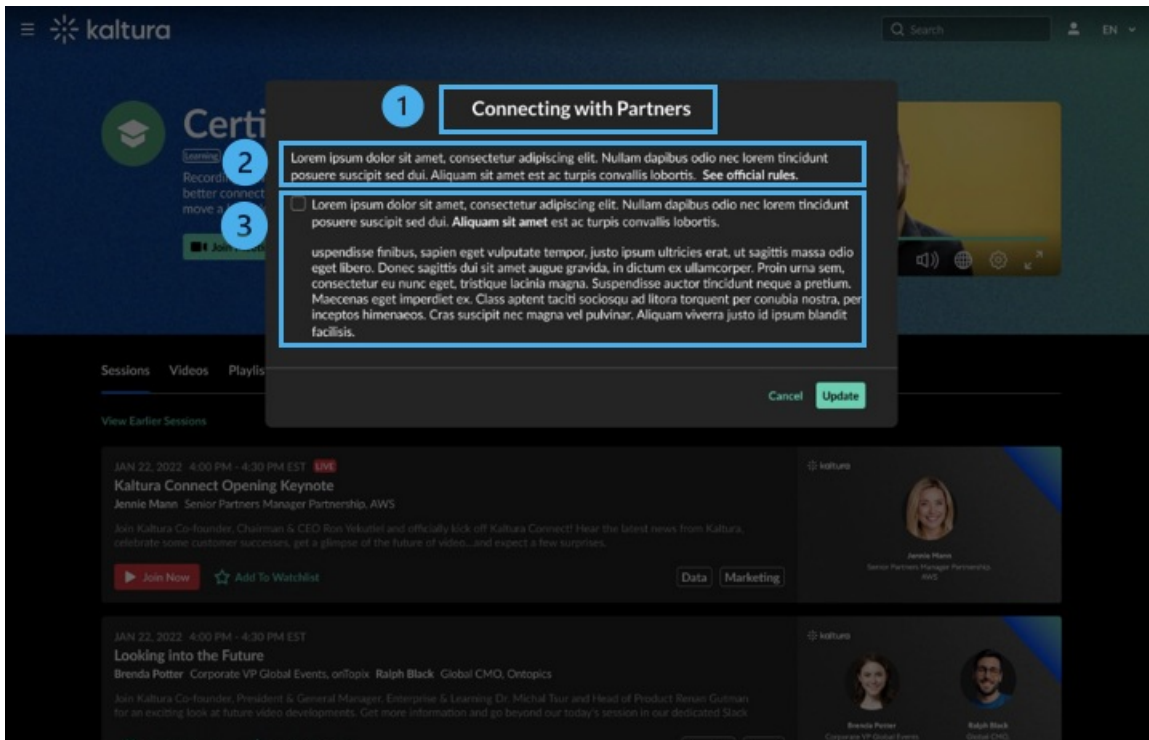

For this option, you may provide one sentence to display in all event channels, or you may provide different sentences for each channel.
