Group chat

Content updated: 05/19/2022

This article is designated for Kaltura's Flagship Events customers

Kaltura believes in the power of a community. Therefore, in addition to being able to interact with event speakers and/or other attendees in one-on-one conversations during virtual events, your attendees can also enjoy group conversations while watching a session or visiting an event booth (track).

Attendees can join and develop a mutual discussion on relevant topics, like/unlike messages, and reply to each other.

Attendees can delete their own messages, and moderators in the specific context can delete messages of other attendees in the group chat.

See Chat with the group during a session.
