Attendee reactions

Attendee reactions enable individual audience members to react using emoticons. Reactions can simulate applause, laughter, and much more. Reactions initiated by attendees will display to everyone in the session. Attendee reactions help boost engagement during your live session.

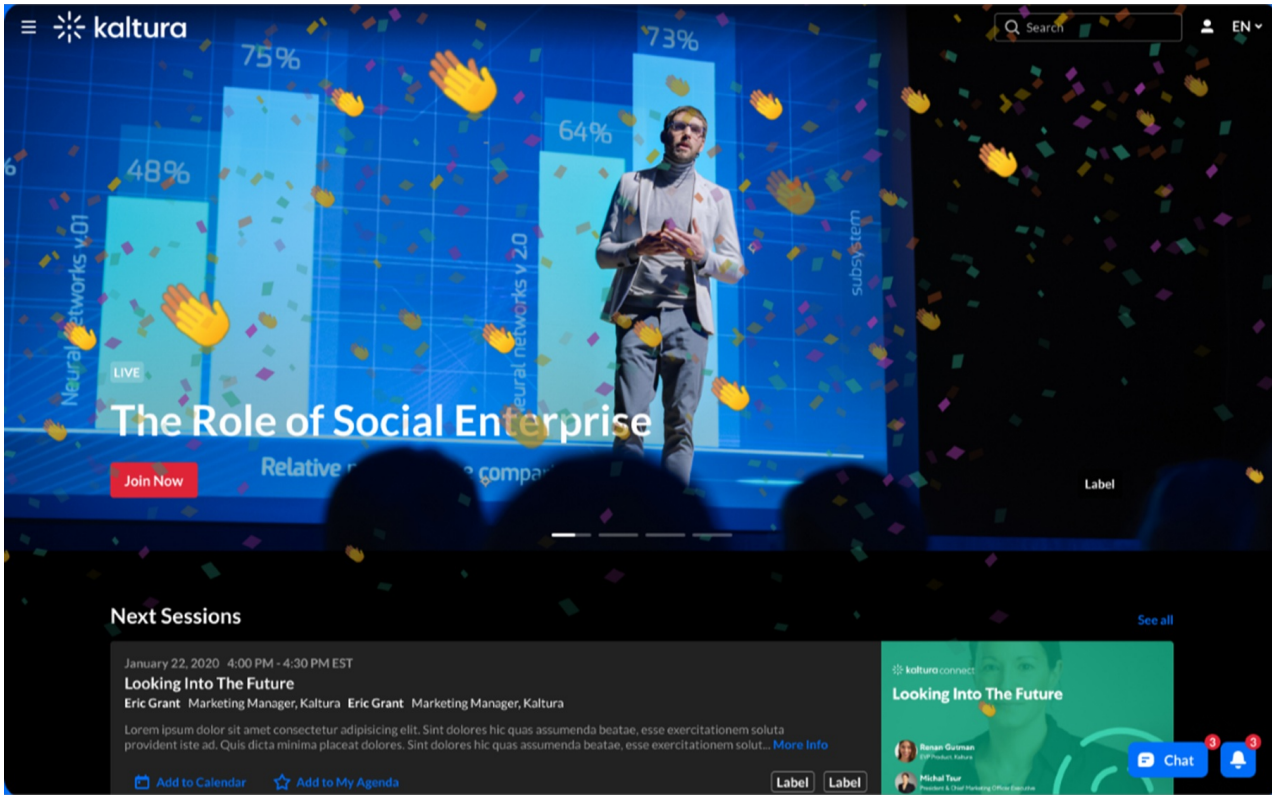

Crowd reactions

Admin activated crowd reactions are complementary to attendee reactions and are intended to emphasize key moments in the “Live Sessions” and generally during the event. They provide a fuller experience to attendees and enhance engagement.

Admin activated timed confetti, for example, can be scheduled to be sent automatically even before the event begins or manually during the event. It appears on the entire screen whether the attendee is in full-screen mode or not. Sprinkle confetti on attendees' screens at special moments to increase engagement and excitement.
