This article is designated for all users.

About

The Group page displays members of a group in a grid layout, with promoted members displayed at the top. Each page can display up to 500 group members.

You can use the Group page to explore people in your community or enterprise, view profile information, and access sessions associated with group members.

This feature requires the GroupPage module and the Theming module to be enabled.

If you don’t see this option, ask your administrator to give you the required permission.

The group page displays the following information:

- title and description of the group
- group members' thumbnail images (or initials if no image was provided)
- a search field to search for members
- number of users (group members) in the group
- a LIVE indicator if that person is currently in a session

Explore

On the group page, you can easily navigate through each group member's details by clicking on their thumbnail.

When you click on a person's thumbnail (or initials if there's no image), a window pops up, displaying further information.

You can explore the following information for each group member:

Personal information (1) - full name, title, company, description

'See profile page' (2) - Click to navigate to that person's profile page.

Scheduled or Past sessions (3) - Clicking here will take you to the person's profile page where you can see all the sessions that they are involved in.

A maximum of two sessions are displayed (4). The system defaults to showing scheduled sessions over previous ones, which means that even if there are past sessions available, only the upcoming scheduled sessions will be displayed.

Sessions are prioritized as follows:

- Scheduled sessions - displayed in order from closest to furthest
- Previous sessions - displayed in order from most recent to oldest

'Add to calendar' (5) - Click to add upcoming sessions to your calendar. In the case of past sessions, a Watch On-Demand button is available; just click to watch the session.
