About

Use the Moderator App to publish attendee questions and moderator responses directly to the Feed. Published Q&As are displayed to all attendees, helping moderators address common topics, increase audience engagement, and keep participants informed during live sessions.

Publish a question from a conversation

Moderators can publish attendee questions directly from an active conversation thread.

1. Hover over the question and select Publish in feed.

The screenshot displays the 'Moderator view' interface. At the top, there are tabs for 'Live stages' and 'Private messages'. Below these, a navigation bar shows 'Video Experience Delivery Session' with sub-tabs for 'Pending (2)', 'Assigned to me (1)', and 'Feed'. The main area shows a conversation thread for a user named Mark Jones, identified as a Human Resources Director at XYZ Company. The thread includes a list of labels: 'VIP', 'Support', and 'Human resources'. A red box highlights the 'Publish in feed' button, which is located next to the question 'I have a question'. A red arrow points to this button. To the right of the question, there are two blue buttons: 'This is your answer' and 'I have an answer', both attributed to Jackson Harris. At the bottom of the interface, there is a text input field labeled 'Write your message'.

The Add to feed window displays.

The attendee information, question, and moderator information are automatically populated. The moderator can enter an answer before publishing. An answer is required when publishing to the Feed but is not required when saving a draft.

2. To publish the Q&A on the feed, click Publish to feed. Published Q&As appear as toast notifications during the session and are permanently available in the Feed. To save it as a draft and return to it later, click Save as draft.

Create a Feed Q&A manually

Moderators can also create a Q&A directly from the Feed tab by selecting Add New > Q&A. They can enter a question and answer, optionally associate the question with a specific attendee or make it anonymous, and add hyperlinks when needed.
